

Workforce Development Board

Serving Kane, Kendall and DeKalb Counties

WHAT IS THE WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT BOARD?

Job training and employment services in Kane, Kendall, and DeKalb Counties are overseen by the Workforce Development Board. The board, which is appointed by the three County Board Chairmen, assists and advises local elected officials regarding the use of Federal workforce development funds. The business-led Workforce Development Board represents regional employers, labor organizations, higher education, community-based organizations, economic development agencies, and workforce system partners. It establishes policies to ensure that services are relevant, flexible, demand driven and customer focused thus contributing to the vitality of the region's economy.

BOARD MEMBERSHIP

The Workforce Development Board is comprised of 40 members from Kane, Kendall and DeKalb Counties. The number of members from each county is proportional, based on population. Private sector employers represent over half of the board's membership and another twenty percent are from labor organizations. Regardless of their field, workforce board members are key decision makers within their companies/organizations. They understand the local economy and the unique challenges facing both employers and job seekers. They bring skills and provide insight in the areas of long-range planning and policy development.

TYPES OF SERVICES OVERSEEN

The Workforce Development Board oversees workforce programs that offer quality services at no cost to job seekers and employers. These services include:

- Walk-in job search assistance through the local Illinois workNet Service Center Network;
- Job training along with employment readiness preparation, career counseling and job matching/ placement for adults and youth; and
- Business services aimed at helping companies recruit and train employees.

STAFF SUPPORT

Staff support for the Workforce Development Board is provided by a consortium of workforce agencies, including the Workforce Development Division of the Kane County Office of Community Reinvestment.
