3. The depth of a basement and height of the first floor for any new construction will be limited by the water table and the BFE, which includes the HWL of any Detention facilities.
4. Development as defined by the Kane County Stormwater Management Ordinance on parcels 01-33-400-010, 01-33-400-011 and 01-33-400-013 (located at the Northwest corner of Getzelman Rd and Lenschow Rd) that singularly results in greater than 5,000 sq ft of new impervious area, or cumulatively (as of Jan 1, 2002) results in greater than 25,000 sq ft of new impervious area shall provide Stormwater Management Measures as required by the Kane County Stormwater Ordinance. If the total new

The lot and parcel owners will develop and implement a maintenance plan for the Detention Storage Facility, record an easement over the Detention Storage Facility and establish a Special Service Area for said Detention Storage Facility (and off-site outfall – if required). The building permit for the Development that results in the exceedance of the 25,000 sq ft of new impervious area will not be released until a Stormwater Management Permit is issued for the Detention Storage Facility as outlined above. Recognizing October as Home and Community Education Month.

STATE OF ILLINOIS

COUNTY OF KANE

RESOLUTION NO. 19 - 330

RECOGNIZING OCTOBER AS KANE COUNTY ASSOCIATION FOR HOME AND COMMUNITY EDUCATION MONTH

WHEREAS, the Illinois Home Bureau Federation was established in July, 1915, for the purpose of improving rural living and family and community life; and

WHEREAS, an Advisor was thereafter hired by the University of Illinois to aid in developing the home improvement association; and

WHEREAS, Kane County joined this University of Illinois Extension program in 1918, a century ago last year, and became the Kane County Homemakers Education Association, until evolving in 2008 into the Kane County Association for Home and Community Education, now based at the University of Illinois Extension offices at 535 Randall Road, St. Charles, Illinois; and

WHEREAS, this organization teaches by deeds more than words, with international studies and activities, by trading and selling locally grown perennials and inviting people to “just come and walk the gardens!,” by recycling and reusing beyond the imaginations of ordinary mortals, by reminding us to be the first to say hello and to sing in the shower and to buy whatever kids are selling on card tables in their front yards and to never refuse homemade brownies and to never waste an opportunity to tell someone you love them, who are a group of people who always practice excellence and are determined to leave Kane County better than they found it; and

WHEREAS, the Kane County Association for Home and Community Education is dedicated to addressing the issues of community outreach, cultural enrichment, family living, international study, public relations, and community involvement for the entire population of Kane County, regardless of race, color, national origin, sex, age, or creed.

2. Stormwater issues will be addressed during the Subdivision process. Please note that any development within the subdivision that results in 5,000 sq ft of new impervious area will require BMPs. Any development that results in impervious area greater than 25,000 sq ft will require Stormwater Detention. (Please note that the house and any impervious area existing prior to 2002 located on the parcel currently identified as 11-32-301-002 will not be considered towards the trigger for Stormwater Detention.)
3. In order to clearly communicate the triggers for Stormwater Detention, Water Resources recommends that a maximum impervious area of development be recorded on the subdivision plat for each parcel.
4. The depth of a basement and height of the first floor for any new construction will be limited by the water table and the BFE, which includes the HWL of any Detention facilities.
5. Right of way and highway easement must be dedicated in the total sum of 66 feet for Finley Road. It is suggested that 33 feet of right of way to the south should be dedicated, and a combination of right of way and highway easement, to allow the existing home to not be included in right of way to the north.

Framework for Kane County Innovative Land Use Strategy Research

LTA Convening of Experts

Overview

The Chicago Metropolitan Agency for Planning (CMAP), Kane County, and Openlands are partnering on a Local Technical Assistance (LTA) project to explore policies and programs that can advance the goals of facilitating infill development and preserving valuable priority land. The primary target of the project is market-based and transfer of benefits (e.g., credits and trading) approaches that have solid potential for deployment in the Chicago metropolitan region. CMAP's LTA program is designed to implement ON TO 2050, the region's current comprehensive plan, through assistance to local governments. Since the initiation of this program in 2011, CMAP has completed 189 local planning projects, with dozens more projects currently underway.

The project will follow a new approach for relevant LTA projects where CMAP's main function is a convener of partners and experts to advance knowledge and discussion. CMAP will guide a collaborative process of research, exploration, and knowledge exchange. The main output of the process will be a series of meetings that build towards a culminating symposium, which will result in the identification of a small set of market-based land use strategies with promise for application in the Chicago region and a set of action steps stakeholders could take to advance them. The project's final report will summarize the completed work and process and identify next steps to advance the land use strategies the process explores. Development and application of new tools requires the involvement and support of a diverse set of stakeholders; this project starts, and in the case of some tools, continues that conversation.

Background

Kane County has long sought to use cutting-edge planning policies to achieve land use and development patterns that balance orderly urban development with priority land preservation. Through its Development and Community Services Department, Kane County has implemented strategies to advance its 2040 conceptual land use strategy, which envisions a "Sustainable Urban Area" in the Fox River valley of eastern Kane County, a "Critical Growth Area" in the center of the county where growing municipalities require thoughtful management of development, and an "Agricultural/Food, Farm, and Small Town Area" in the western part of the county where conservation and farmland protection are emphasized.¹ As municipalities have sought to attract infill development in the "Sustainable Urban Area," particularly in historic downtown areas along the Fox River, the County has simultaneously worked to preserve land through its Farmland Protection Program. Since 2001, the County has invested Riverboat funds and federal matching funds to protect almost 6,000 acres across several dozen farms. Kane County's "Growing for Kane" program, adopted in 2013, supports land protection and other incentives for farms of any size throughout the county that are producing food.

Kane County seeks to explore innovative land use strategies that can help foster growth and new investment in previously developed areas of the county while preserving priority lands. The project will look beyond ways to generate additional revenue for current land and easement acquisition programs, looking broadly at new approaches that can drive land preservation while stimulating development where it is most appropriate, helping to achieve Kane County's and ON TO 2050's goals of balanced development. The hope is that a suite of approaches, properly designed and implemented, can achieve more land preservation with less capital outlay while also encouraging development in targeted areas.

A number of distinct but related transfer of benefits policies ("TOB") have emerged in national planning practice in recent years. As these policies have developed, several research efforts have been initiated in the CMAP region over the past few years to gauge the applicability of these models in northeast Illinois. ON TO 2050 recommends the use of this type of innovative financing mechanism to advance regional land use, open space, agricultural protection, and development goals. These programs may represent potential pathways for market-based approaches, public-private-civic partnerships, and creative financing strategies to achieve conservation and infill development goals.

This project would help advance ON TO 2050's goals for community and land use, mobility, and the environment. ON TO 2050 recommends targeting infill, infrastructure, and natural area investments through strategies such as protecting agricultural and natural land through local planning processes. Transfer of benefits programs are one policy lever that can help communities accomplish the land use and transportation goals they establish in local plans. By more efficiently directing development to areas identified in local plans and directing it away from areas identified as conservation priorities, communities can make it easier to plan for and provide transportation infrastructure and service in a cost-effective manner.

Project Goals

We propose an approximately twelve-month exploratory effort that brings together regional and local stakeholders to discuss the promise and challenge of transfer of benefits approaches (i.e., credit trading and market-based approaches) to achieving development and conservation goals. For a variety of legal, political, and practical reasons, past efforts to initiate transfer of benefits programs in this region have not succeeded. However, the lessons our partners have learned from these efforts will be invaluable as we explore ways to further develop TOB models. Rather than start at the beginning of the conversation, this project proposes to assess the state of the practice with respect to progress made and past or current efforts by various partners. Ultimately, this project should help the region evaluate tools to leverage the market benefits of ecosystem services and open space to help conserve priority lands.

The desired outcomes of this project include 1) knowledge exchange between regional stakeholders and experts from outside the region, 2) the development and strengthening of cross-sector networks committed to advancing innovative, market-based land use and conservation strategies, and 3) a clear set of next steps for participating stakeholders to pursue. While the knowledge exchange and networking provided to partners by the meetings and roundtables will be the major “deliverable” of the project, the culminating report will summarize the results of the process and action steps that emerged. Next steps may include proposing state or local regulatory changes; establishment of standing working groups and cross-sector partnerships; investigation of incentive programs; partnership with emerging programs (e.g., Storm Store); and others.

Scope of Work

Phase One: Project Initiation and Groundwork

- Based on input from Kane County and Openlands, form and meet with a steering committee
 - The steering committee will represent a diversity of regional stakeholders, such as landowners and tenants, land conservation experts, public planners and economic development directors, real estate developers, and members of the financial and lending community
- Establish and confirm the scope and parameters of the project
- Research TOB programs within the U.S.
 - Review white papers and reports on national best practices
 - Identify national and regional practitioners with relevant expertise to interview
- Work with steering committee to identify participants of practitioner roundtables

Phase Two: Practitioner Roundtables

- The project team, guided by a steering committee, will convene a series of practitioner roundtables.
- The roundtables will provide forums for the project team to engage, interview, and conduct outreach to stakeholders understand and summarize the current state of land conservation in Kane County and the Chicago region.
- Each roundtable will feature local and regional voices.
- The roundtables will draw on practitioners and other stakeholders to deepen the project team’s understanding of the major issues and opportunities, while building a network that will endure beyond the project’s active phases.
- Roundtables could focus on a specific geography, a policy topic or tool, or some other area of focus. Tentatively, the four roundtables could be:
 - Landowner, Tenant, and Management Stakeholders: This would include public and private entities who own, manage, and work land, including forest preserve districts, land trusts, and other land preservation advocates and practitioners.
 - Local Government and Regulatory Stakeholders: This roundtable would include municipal planners, municipal economic development directors, and elected officials.
 - Finance and Investment Practitioners: This roundtable would include real estate developers, lenders, and other practitioners from the real estate financing and capital markets communities. This roundtable could be a half-day ULI Developer Discussion.

- Conservation Stakeholders: This roundtable will include conservation experts and practitioners, environmental advocates, and philanthropic funders.
- The intended outcomes of the roundtables will be the identification and exploration of topics to be further considered throughout the project and at the symposium. These topics are expected to include barriers to adopting TOB programs, potential benefits, and considerations for successful program design. The project team and steering committee will use the knowledge gained from these roundtables to inform the symposium program.

Phase Three: Symposium Development

- CMAP, the community partner, and the steering committee will identify regional experts and stakeholders to take part in a symposium.
- The symposium will build on the four roundtables, bringing together representatives from each group to present results and finalize a list of policy approaches for the symposium to consider.
- The project team will develop a format and program for symposium and invite attendees.
- Working with Openlands and external experts participating in the roundtables and symposium, CMAP will coordinate creation of a briefing book compiling existing data and research, background articles, and output from practitioner roundtables to share with symposium attendees. The briefing book will summarize first-tier analysis of how each of these programs functions.

Phase Four: Symposium

- The project team will convene a half-day or one-day symposium to discuss and investigate the issues and opportunities that emerged in project research and advisory roundtables.
- Invited members will include:
 - Primary players, including regional and state advocates, who need to be on board
 - Members of each practitioner roundtable
 - Members of the project steering committee
- Format will be determined by the project team and steering committee.
- Intended outcomes of the symposium include the identification and summary of:
 - Summaries of the types of TOB programs and policies and how they work.
 - Opportunities for and challenges of adopting TOB programs (e.g., difficulty of transactions across jurisdictions, state legislation or policy, state administration (i.e., agency level)).
 - Benefits and beneficiaries, including farmland, natural, and open space preservation; water supply protection (e.g., groundwater, NYC water supply); protection of flood-prone or otherwise vulnerable communities; advancement of development goals of municipalities, developers, and investors.
 - Considerations for successful program design.

- Essential components for programs to succeed (e.g., a robust development market, demand, willingness by local governments and developers to use incentive structures, legislation, popular support, etc.).
- Strategies to induce support from key players (e.g., regulatory compliance (as watershed work groups have done with wastewater permits)).
- Less complex policy alternatives to achieve similar results (e.g., impact fees or other fees on development that would be directed towards mitigation efforts).
- Approaches with most promise to pursue.

Phase Five: Post-Symposium

- The project team will draft a summary of the symposium in a recommendations memo. Output should include a set of recommended next steps for the partners involved in the project.
 - Are any of these TOB ideas ripe at this time, justifying a heavier investment in research and advocacy?
 - Are TOB programs and alternatives feasible for this region?
 - Is there an appetite/interest among the primary players?
 - What might next steps be to advance a ready, feasible program?
- The steering committee will reconvene following the symposium to discuss the draft recommendations memo.
- The project team will finalize the recommendations memo and compile it with a summary of the roundtables and “briefing book” to form the final project report.

Summary:

The County Board originally approved utilizing Cordogan Clark & Associates (RES #15-19) at the February 10, 2015, Board meeting to perform professional architectural, construction management and engineering services required to complete future capital projects for the County on an as needed basis per project.

This resolution is for a one (1) year retention contract for FY2020. Cordogan Clark has agreed to hold the 2015 rates for services for FY2020.

STATE OF ILLINOIS

COUNTY OF KANE

RESOLUTION: NO. 19 - 341

AUTHORIZING RETENTION OF CORDOGAN CLARK & ASSOCIATES

WHEREAS, the County of Kane is engaged in long range planning in the construction, demolition and usage of government assets; and

WHEREAS, the County Board approves a 5-Year Capital Improvement Plan each year for building improvements to Kane County government facilities. Accordingly, appropriate funds have been budgeted for FY2020; and

WHEREAS, it is in the best interests of the County of Kane to engage professional architectural, construction management and engineering services to facilitate the completion of those planned capital projects; and

WHEREAS, the County of Kane has had an excellent relationship for over seven years with Cordogan Clark providing those aforementioned services. Cordogan Clark's affiliation with the County began in 2013 as a result of a Qualification Based Selection (QBS) process undertaken by Kane County when the Sheriff's Office required an architect plan for the their new certification range project; and

WHEREAS, Kane County opted to continue the professional services relationship when the County board approved utilizing Cordogan Clark & Associates at the February 10, 2015 (RES #15-19) Board meeting for County capital projects; and

WHEREAS, Cordogan Clark is currently providing services related to the on-going Multi-Use Facility project. To engage a new firm in the midst of ongoing projects that are unfamiliar to them, would be disruptive to the County's planning process. "Time lost" would translate to additional expenditures. Cordogan and Clark is knowledgeable about all County facilities, processes and operations; and

WHEREAS, in addition, the County is due for another facilities assessment program which Cordogan Clark had done in 2015. It would be fiscally responsible of the County for Cordogan Clark to provide this service again as they already have a basis to start from and would only be required to update findings rather than starting from scratch; and

WHEREAS, unlike a new vendor, Cordogan Clark is also willing to continue to provide services for the next fiscal year at 2015 price points.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Kane County board that it hereby approves retaining Cordogan Clark & Associates to perform professional architectural, construction management and engineering services required to complete future capital projects for FY2020, on an "as needed" basis per project.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, by the Kane County Board, that the Chairman of the Kane County board is hereby authorized and delegated the authority to execute all documents necessary to retain Cordogan Clark & Associates to perform those professional services recited above on an “as needed” basis, per project.

Approving a Vehicle Fleet Leasing Program with Enterprise Fleet Management of Oak Brook, Illinois for Kane County Division of Transportation

Committee Flow: Transportation Committee, Finance and Budget Committee, Executive Committee, County Board

Budget Information:

If not budgeted, explain funding source: N/A

Summary:

The Kane County Division of Transportation (KDOT) seeks to lower its Maintenance fleet vehicle purchase and maintenance costs, standardize its fleet, and achieve better fuel economy using newer vehicles. KDOT has twelve light duty vehicles that comprise its Maintenance fleet. In order to achieve these goals, KDOT and Purchasing staff advertised a Request for Proposals, received proposals and interviewed three firms. Enterprise Fleet Management, of Oak Brook, IL offers an innovative low cost comprehensive fleet leasing and management program that addresses these needs.

Enterprise Fleet Management (Enterprise) is a large leasing company with offices in Illinois which is important for the customer service aspect of this program which involves providing us with fleet vehicles, recommending when to “cycle”, maintenance, and vehicle title registration management.

KDOT intends to enter into a lease program with Enterprise which will likely involve at least one if not two lease cycles. This frequent “cycling” of the vehicles allows the County to take advantage of low monthly lease payments and a higher return when the vehicle is sold by the leasing company, while the proceeds are returned to the County.

Enterprise has proposed leasing to KDOT twelve 2020 GMC Sierra Double Cab trucks at $459 per month per vehicle, plus applicable fees for administration ($100), courtesy delivery fee ($200), and vehicle disposition ($400). Enterprise projects that each 2020 GMC Sierra Double Cab could provide the County between $3,825 and $4,800 during each lease “cycle” which represents the amount by which the sales value exceeds the residual value. These amounts can be returned to the County in the form of a check or used to reduce future lease payments.

RESOLUTION: NO. 19 - 345

APPROVING A VEHICLE FLEET LEASING PROGRAM WITH ENTERPRISE FLEET MANAGEMENT OF OAK BROOK, ILLINOIS FOR KANE COUNTY DIVISION OF TRANSPORTATION

WHEREAS, the Kane County Division of Transportation desires to lower its maintenance vehicle fleet leasing and maintenance costs, standardize its fleet, and achieve better fuel economy by utilizing newer and more fuel efficient vehicles; and

WHEREAS, the Kane County Division of Transportation desires a Vehicle Fleet Leasing Program that requires the leasing company to actively and continuously monitor the County's maintenance vehicle fleet to determine the optimum time to sell the County's leased maintenance vehicles to maximize the resale value thereof, with any profits from the resale of the County's leased vehicles returned to the County in the form of reduced future lease payments; and

WHEREAS, proposals have been solicited and received by the Kane County Division of Transportation for a Vehicle Fleet Leasing Program that will achieve the Division of Transportation's goals; and

WHEREAS, Enterprise Fleet Management (Enterprise) of Oak Brook, Illinois is willing to provide the desired Vehicle Fleet Leasing Program to the County pursuant to the proposed Fleet Leasing contract between the County and Enterprise,(hereinafter the (Fleet Leasing Contract), per Kane County proposal terms and conditions.

Summary:

The Kane County Health Department facilitates a planning process to review data and identify the top health issues facing the community. In 2018, the community identified behavioral health and substance abuse as two of the most severe issues Kane County residents face. Many risk factors for both of these issues can occur in early childhood. Also in 2018, the Kane County Health Department secured a children's mental health grant to help address these issues.

Additionally, Kane County Health Department has a grant that supports the facilitation of a countywide early childhood network, called the All Our Kids (AOK) Network. This group of Kane County education, medical and social service stakeholders has identified childhood trauma as the key priority for its current five-year plan.

Kane County Health Department has just been selected to implement an early childhood mental health consultation program for Kane and DuPage Counties. This initiative supports the early childhood and children's mental health work that Kane County is already conducting.

Chaddock, the organization funded by the Illinois Department of Human Services to manage the statewide Early Childhood Mental Health Consultation Initiative, has selected Kane County Health Department to implement the program in Kane and DuPage Counties. This initiative supports the early childhood and children's mental health work that Kane County is already conducting.

By participating in this program, Kane County will hire an exempt mental health consultant to provide an array of consultation services, training, and reflective support to local childcare providers working with children ages zero to five and their families.

Summary:

The Village of Sugar Grove is the lead agency for an intersection improvement project at Bliss Road and IL 47. The project will improve the intersection and will extend along Bliss Road northeasterly to tie into the recently completed improvements to Bliss Road over Blackberry Creek at Capitol Drive. The project has progressed through all required engineering and is slated for letting in late Fall 2019. Sugar Grove entered into a Letter of Intent with the State of Illinois in 2016 which outlined cost participation between the two agencies. The project includes a mix of federal, state and local funds, with the State providing a 50% portion of the required local match for the federal funds, and the Village responsible for the remaining 50% local match. Recognizing that Bliss Road is a County Highway, the Village of Sugar Grove is requesting that the Village's portion of the local match for construction and construction engineering be split 50%-50% between the Village and Kane County.

The total cost for the construction/construction engineering phase of the project is $1,834,490. The anticipated required local match attributed to the Village totals $326,947. The Village is requesting that Kane County pay 50% or $163,473.50. Staff recommends an adding a contingency of $25,000 for a total appropriation request of $188,473.50.
